

Gallaudet receives microcomputers from IBM Corp.

Gallaudet is acquiring a number of IBM microcomputers. Through a grant from IBM, 12 microcomputers have already been delivered to campus and are located at the College, the Northwest Campus and MSSD.

As additional microcomputers arrive, they will be distributed to different departments on campus—both for instructional and business applications.

An IBM personal computer (IBM PC) located in the Learning Center and an IBM personal computer (IBM PC/XT) located in the EMG User Room B06 will be available for use by the campus community in early fall.

The microcomputer located in LE 60 of the Learning Center will be scheduled for microcomputer-related use only, according to Computer Services. While the registrar will schedule its use, John Millikin, manager of User Services for Computer Services, should be contacted beforehand at x5613 (voice) or x5616 (TDD).

In general, the two systems at the Learning Center and EMG will have 256K of memory, two floppy disk drives (PC) or one floppy and one 10 megabyte hard disk (XT), a keyboard and a monitor.

During the next few months, the College will address several issues related to the microcomputers—among them, maintenance and training.

The general goal for the fall use of the microcomputers is to provide time to set-up, secure and learn to use the personal computers. During the fall, faculty members can integrate personal computers into some courses while the spring 1985 semester will be the time for instructional implementation and heavier use.

Gallaudet plays role in grant award

The Rotary Club of Washington, D.C. awarded a grant of more than $4,000 for exterior renovations to a community center located near Gallaudet and for which Gallaudet requested funds.

The College's Office of Community Relations requested in January that the Community Service Committee of the Rotary Club allocate money to the Northeast Neighborhood House (NENH) located several blocks from Gallaudet on Ninth Street.

The center provides educational and recreational activities for youths between the ages of 6 and 21. Tutorial and counseling services, instruction in sewing and typing as well as arts and crafts classes are offered during after-school hours and throughout the day

Campus crime statistics released

Statistics compiled by the Department of Safety and Security show that more than $8,000 in personal property was stolen on campus in a nine-month period. Approximately 70 percent of those crime could have been prevented, said Ed Glenn, a supervisor in the Department of Safety and Security.

"The key to effective crime prevention is people taking the time to eliminate opportunities for crime," Glenn said.

According to Department of Safety and Security figures, $8,050 in currency and other personal belongings was taken from October of last year to May 31. Glenn stressed that while the items were stolen on campus—in offices, parking lots, dormitories and other campus buildings—the statistics reflect only the loss of personal possessions, not College property.

Money was the most frequent type of property stolen, with 45 incidents reported from October to May. In those incidents, $2,714 was reported stolen.

There were 20 reported incidents of articles of clothing taken from around campus—with those items worth $1,113, the Department said.

Electrical appliances—televisions, radios and TTDs—represent the third largest group of stolen property. There were 19 such incidents reported for a loss of $2,841.

Five cameras, worth $392, were reported taken during the nine-month period, as well as four hearing aids valued at $990.

Glenn said that most of the crimes were committed after the items were left unattended.

"It's up to each individual to incorporate crime prevention efforts in their daily habits if we are going to reduce crime on Kendall Green," Glenn said. Anyone interested in more information on crime prevention should contact the Department of Safety and Security at x5563.

Schools duplicate KDES-developed computer system

The six Special Schools of the Future and the Oregon and Texas Schools for the Deaf are setting up exact replicas of the KDES-developed Computer Managed Education System (CMES) as part of KDES' ongoing computer project. This follows a week of intensive instruction July 16-20 by project leader Phil Mackall.

Representatives from each of the future CMES demonstration sites learned how to set up, maintain and use Kendall's CMES—an integrated network of Apple and IBM microcomputers and appropriate software.

In turn, each of the demonstration schools will show their systems to other schools for the deaf in their regions. KDES, through a special agreement with Learning Tools, Inc., can then sell the specially adapted software to any interested schools for the deaf for well below usual retail cost.

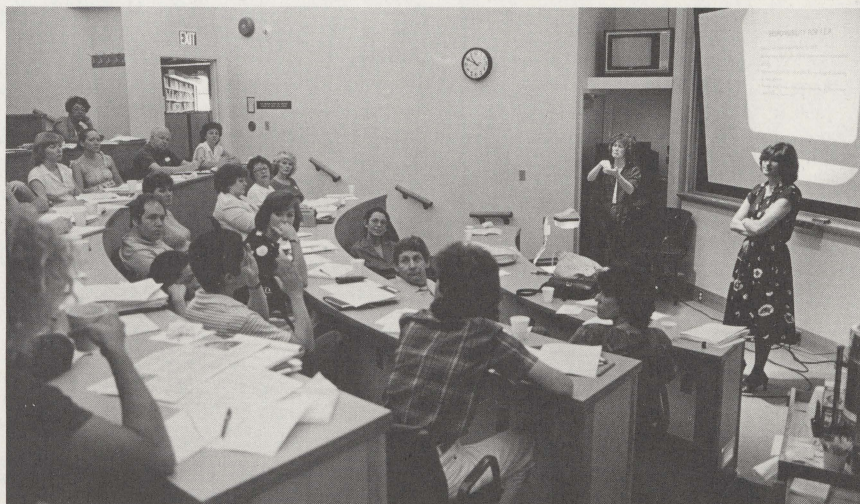

Software for the system, which was designed and tested at KDES under the direction of Dean Mike Deninger, includes programs to manage curriculum and to generate and update IEPs, student reports and administrative records. Word processing and electronic mail are also facets of the package.

"I'm truly overwhelmed," said Allan Mayer, representing the Oregon School

Soccer tryouts for the 1985 team for the World Games for the Deaf. Soccer, men's and women's basketball and men's and women's tennis tryouts were held at Gallaudet July 18-21. More than 300 athletes came from all over the country to compete.

Gallaudet acquiring microcomputers

During the fall, Room LE 60 of the Learning Center will serve as a general purpose microcomputer area. It will support some specific projects but will also be staffed by user aides at times to be announced.

A Microcomputer Support Center is planned by Computer Services. One plan would allow for the loaning of microcomputers for day or overnight use. More details will be announced as plans progress and as microcomputers become more available.

Computer Services has also scheduled an introductory class on new microcomputers at Gallaudet. The classes will focus on the IBM PC, IBM PC/XT and the Apple Macintosh. Two sections of the class—academic/scientific applications and business applications—will be offered twice.

The one and one-half hour class will cover how to begin using the microcomputers; demonstrate the capabilities of each, the use of languages such as Pascal, Cobol and Fortran; and demonstrate academic/scientific and business software currently or potentially available on Gallaudet microcomputers, terminal emulation, word processing, spreadsheets and the Apple/IBM PC QUADLINK. Each class will give students hands-on experience.

The academic/scientific applications class will be held Wednesday, Aug. 8 at 9:30 a.m. and Thursday, Aug. 9 at 2 p.m. The business applications class will meet Wednesday, Aug. 8 at 2 p.m. and Thursday, Aug. 9 at 9:30 a.m. Classes will meet in LW 11 of the Learning Center.

For more information, contact Computer Services/User Services at x5613 (voice) or x5616 (TDD).

for the Deaf at the training session. "With our current software—one package for this function, another for that—we were finding the computerization was causing us more work than before. With this system, we can establish one major data base."

With the establishment of compatible computer systems throughout the country, KDES will establish KendallNet, an information-sharing network that will allow teachers and administrators nationwide to compare techniques, announce innovations or request assistance for the price of a local phone call.

"The ramifications are just tremendous," said Jane Lee of the Georgia State Department of Education. "Networking with people all across the nation will require no more effort than walking down the hall to ask a question."

The Special Schools of the Future are: St. Mary's School for the Deaf in Buffalo, NY; Atlanta Area School for the Deaf in Clarkston, GA; Louisiana School for the Deaf in Baton Rouge; Wisconsin School for the Deaf in Delavan; California School for the Deaf in Fremont; and Sir James Whitney School in Belleville, Ontario.

Of note

- Three hearing aids have been turned in to the Department of Safety and Security Investigative Office since June. The items can be claimed by contacting Billy Holman at x5436 or 5666 (TDD).

- Happy Hour is held in "Ole Jim" every Thursday and Friday from 4 to 7 p.m.

Charter presented to Sertoma Club

The newly formed Gallaudet Sertoma Club held a charter banquet at "Ole Jim" June 30, during which time the club's official charter was presented and its officers installed.

Merv Garretson, special assistant to the president, will serve as the group's president and Claude Pruitt of the Accounting Department will serve as its treasurer.

Sertoma, an acronym for Service to Mankind, is a club involved in the treatment of hearing and speech defects. Meetings have been held on campus since January for the club's 42 charter members.

Founded in 1912, Sertoma International is a service organization open to men. It has more than 35,000 members in more than 1,000 clubs.
